Lieber Bruder Heinz-W. Hammer:
vielen Dank für den jüngsten Brief mit dem Plakat und den Fotos. Es freut mich zu wissen, dass Carola Wollweber und Du, gemeinsam mit vielen anderen Brüdern bei der Feier zu euren Geburtstagen (Glückwünsche an die beiden zu 50 bzw. 60 Jahren), an die Los Cinco gedacht hatten. Ich möchte die Gelegenheit einmal mehr nutzen, um mich im Namen der 5 für die Hilfe der Compañeras und Compañeros der DKP zu bedanken und euch ein schönes und erfolgreiches 2015 zu wünschen.

Immer bis zum Sieg!

Eine feste Umarmung:

Gerardo Hernández Nordelo

US Activist Says Cuban Five Exemplify Cuba

Phyllis, 56, Phyllis Lambert, The Cuban man who was imprisoned in the United States for leading fights against their country are perhaps the only soldiers in the world to have received such respect from their government, people, families and friends in solidarity in U.S. which she said today.

In Cuba's historical events that define itself a generation, said Phyllis Lambert in an interview with Phyllis Lambert, Justice of the coordinator for the International Committee that is fighting for release of the Cuban Five, Lambert Lambert and her family.

"They represent the dignity of all those who are fighting for a better world," emphasized Lambert, who expressed her admiration for Genoveva Hernandez, Ramon Labrada and Abner Guzman, who remain imprisoned in US prisons.

She also expressed similar feelings for the two other members of the group that is to be released in October on the Cuban Five, Fernando Gonzalez and Rene Gonzalez, who returned to Cuba after serving their full sentences.

Lambert said that it is painful for the solidarity movement to see them who remained in Cuba only after serving their sentences, instead of leaving the US government really has respect for the dignity of all of the five immediately back to their country.

Nevertheless, she emphasized that the solidarity with the Five has been strengthened with their presence. "They have led to the front lines of the struggle, something which gives us strength."
